DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.
2. These claims have no compositional limitations. The claims are directed to a “low application temperature hot melt adhesive.” The adhesive is claimed solely by properties. As such, the patentability is predicated upon the claimed property rather than any compositional and/or structural limitation. The courts have determined that when a claim is solely dependent upon a property then the claim is considered a single means claim. A single means claim covers every conceivable means for achieving a stated property. The claim is not enabled by the specification as the specification does not provide enabling disclosure for every conceivable means for achieving the stated properties.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-7, 11-16 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over vanDrongelen et al. US 6,103,814.

6. Claims 8-10 and 17-19 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over vanDrongelen et al. US 6,103,814 in view of Tomita et al. US 2002/0061966.

7. Claims 1-7, 11-169 and 20 are anticipated and/or obvious over vanDrongelen for reasons of record.

8. Claims 8-10 and 17-19 are seen to further incorporate an ionomer resin. The vanDrongelen patent is silent as to the incorporation of this resin. The Tomita et al patent is cited as showing thermoplastic elastomers in hot melt adhesive compositions, [0015]. These adhesives are very similar to those disclosed in vanDrongelen. The claimed amount of the component is disclosed at [0016]. Tackifiers are disclosed at [0024]. The incorporation of the ionomer resin is rendered disclosed at [0023]. The difference between the claimed invention and the cited art is the ionomer is not exemplified. Here one would have to select the ionomer resin from those resins listed in [0023]. One would be motivated to select the ionomer resin from this list and incorporate it into the composition of vanDrongelen given the art recognized advantages.
